Britt Olsen Speaks on How She Hires Top Talent at On Running

By Chase Anderson | September 18, 2023

Britt Olsen, General Manager for the Americas at On Running, spoke to upper division students in the OPDD program about the power of high performing teams and how she identifies top talent in her role as a leader. On Running is a Swiss sportswear company that has experienced exponential growth in the last few years. The company is committed to creating high performing, sustainable products that revolutionize the running experience.
