Agroecology Grant

June 15, 2022

Congrats to Bradley Crookston for receiving a grant of more than $200,000 from the National Institute of Food and Agriculture! Bradley's research focuses on how scientists think about agricultural ecosystems — that is, the ways people, plants, animals, and their environment all interact on farms and other agricultural settings. By looking at how researchers already study, teach, and understand agroecology, Bradley hopes to improve the field as a whole. And that can lead to better farming, healthier food, and a more sustainable environment for all. <https://portal.nifa.usda.gov/web/crisprojectpages/1028319-agroecological-endeavor-in-contexts-complexity-in-agroecological-education-research-and-application.html>
